Mrs. Jane Hood Speaker at P-TA Conference

Board members of Torrance Council P-TA attended the annual fall conference of First District P-TA held in Monrovia recently.

Speaker at the general session was Mrs. Jane Hood, assistant to the state superintendent of public instruction and member of First District Advisory Board.

With "Volunteer and Professional Working Together in Education," as her subject, Mrs. Hoods, who is a mother and educator, said:

"Working together as parents and educators is a two-way job. It's part of our responsibility to keep our sights high. Our goals are very much alike. Parenthood is a career and while the volunteer may not be a professional, he is an expert—not an amateur."

Teacher Shortage Acute

According to Mrs. Hood, the teacher shortage is becoming more acute each year as fewer young people are entering the teaching profession and thousands who are accredited, have left the profession for various reasons.

Members from Torrance Council who attended the workshops following the general sessions were: Mrs. H. E. Carr, Mrs. Elmer Moon, Mrs. Ralph Eyston, Mrs. H. Cortes, Mrs. Bruce Howey, Mrs. Lee Polick, Mrs. John Patrick, Mrs. J. L. Hinds, and Mrs. A. C. Turner, First District financial secretary, who conducted a finance and budget workshop.

Eight cosmetology students of El Camino College recently passed their State Board of Cosmetology examination with superior grades according to Dr. William Harless, Director of Instruction. This was the largest single group to take the examination for license as a hairdresser and cosmetician since the inception of the department two years ago, according to the college official. Because of the critical shortage of beauticians, all the students immediately upon receiving their licenses, were placed in salons in the southwest area.

Graduates of the tuition-free college include Doris Alley; Gardena; Roberta Austin, Torrance; Lathilla Brannon, Redondo Beach; Barbara Gaines, Harbor City; Annette Donato, Lawndale; Thelma Garner, Gardena; Beulah Uter, Gardena and Patricia Westmore, Inglewood.
